

Located in Ngamwongwan district, the serene suburb of Bangkok, Design Concept office houses a reception area, conference rooms, private offices, a large open-plan studio and a pantry. This white, simple building has been designed to create a comfortable workplace by using the harmony of scale, natural light and surrounding nature. High-ceilings in the reception area and in the studio are flushed with natural light through the square-grid glass walls and clearstory. White walls and neutral color furniture are used to brighten and energize the interior.

to create a comfortable workplace by using natural light and surrounding nature.

ARCHITECTURE